Parking Gripes Aired Fully by City Council

Hope City Council in a long session last night raked over the parking meter situation, spent some money, discussed the Junior Police program, hired a couple of men and furthered plans for a rest room for Negro shoppers.

The council let its hair down on the parking meter question and discussed at length the question of passing out tickets for over-parking, and free parking space for various firms.

Some alderman said they had received numerous complaints of "favoritism" in ticketing for parking violations. One alderman said that many of the complaints possibly could be explained. However, they all insisted that steps be taken to prevent any explanation becoming necessary. The council blamed nobody in particular for the situation, indicating it had been building up for several years.

So the group ordered that all city officers pass out tickets when they see a red flag. Then too, the council is making signs which indicate that all free parking space will be abolished as soon as some charging method can be devised.

Junior Police
The Junior Police group, organized by Chief Jack Brown, was endorsed by the council with a pledge for all reasonable assistance. Chief Brown explained that the Junior Police is strictly a volunteer group which officers use for handling traffic at community affairs, car parking etc. The organization is open to any local youth who desires to join. Mr. Brown explained that it is more or less a club and that each member signs a pledge to obey all laws, their parents and to respect and defend the Constitution, Bill of Rights.

The Junior Police League has proved very successful in other areas. Such a club gives officers and youths a city a chance to get together and work out problems. Mr. Brown said. The ultimate goal of both officers and youths is mutual understanding and the Junior Police League has worked elsewhere and with the support of the city it can work here if given half a chance, Mr. Brown declared.

The group voted to purchase a mower in the sum of about $1,222 from Tol-E-Text company to be used at Fair park; awarded a bid to Hope Hardware Co. for materials to be used on the roof of the Elks Building and hired two men, Charlie Graham and work two nights weekly at the Police Department during summer vacations and Forest C. Ross as fireman at the Water and Light Plant the latter job being a replacement.

A request by Foster Realty Co. for use of the city machine to dig a sewer line in Beverly Hills adding was denied.

A committee will look into the alleged pollution of Caney creek; authorized a committee to lease a building on Third Street for a Negro rest room if it meets requirements; okayed purchase of a pump for the Airport well; released a Kiwanis Club mortgage for $1,000 which has now been paid off; rented a city hall office for another year to the government and gave a gulf station at Third and Shover a permit to make repairs.

13 Students Hurt in Wreck at Malvern

MALVERN (AP) — Four high school students and the driver of the school bus they were riding were injured seriously early today when the bus and an automobile collided near here. The bus then smashed into a tree.

The 33 students on the bus were seniors from Malvern High School. The accident occurred a quarter-mile south of the Ouachita High School on the Malvern-Arkadelphia road, highway 67.

An unidentified student said the accident occurred on a bridge just south of Ouachita Consolidated High school when a car coming from the opposite direction side-swiped the bus. After the collision, the bus ran off the highway and smashed into a tree.

The students were en route to Henderson State Teachers College at Arkadelphia for the "Reddy Day" celebration.

Barton reportedly was partly thrown through the windshield, suffering severe face injuries.

The three occupants of the car, including a small child, apparently were not hurt. They could not be identified immediately.

UN Envoy in Hurried Trip to Damascus

BY ERIC GOTTGREU
JERUSALEM (AP) — U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld set up a hurried trip to Damascus today for a last-minute appeal to Syrian leaders balking at agreement on an unconditional ceasefire with Israel.

Hammarskjöld had planned to leave today for Rome to prepare his report for the U.N. Security Council on his Middle East peace mission. He decided to confer again with Syrian leaders, however, in a windup effort to get them to abandon their demand that Israel pledge not to go ahead with plans to divert the waters of the Jordan River.

U.N. spokesmen said Hammarskjöld would stop in Cairo for final talks with Egyptian leaders on route to Rome. He is expected to next week.

Hammarskjöld arrived in the Middle East April 6. He has sustained pledges of an unconditional ceasefire from Israel and Egypt. He also has received promises of support from other Arab states.

Louis Earned $4,626,721.69 in Ring as a Boxer and Doesn't Know Where the 69c Went

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That the British Parliament first banned professional boxing in 1743.

That Joe Louis earned $4,626,721.69 during his years in the ring — and probably doesn't know himself where the 69c went.

That the late Young Stribling scored the most knockouts in ring history—127.

That one of the real hard luck fighters of history was Sam Langford, "the Boston Tar Baby," who fought 244 times and knocked out 98 men—and never held a title in his life.

That while the active life of a boxer is supposed to be only slightly longer than that of a television comedian, 53 men have fought 20 years or more. The record is held by Daniel Mendoza who quit in 1820 after 35 years. Bob Fitzsimmons, who hung up his gloves after 33 years, is second.

That no one knows for sure how many bubbles there are in a glass of champagne, but it has 40 fewer calories than a scotch highball.

That what an American motorist calls the glove compartment in his convertible, the Englishman calls "the cubby locker in the drophead." Our "choke" is their "strangler." Our radiator ornament their "mascot," our "trailer" their "caravan." Everybody clear on the Queen's English?

That the high cost of living ruined Ika Chase's fine wine crack. "America's best buy for a nickel" is a telephone call to the right man. It takes a dime now in most places. All a girl with a nickel can do in a phone booth is to adjust her stockings while she wonders what to do next.

That they now have a bathroom scale with a dial that lights up in 1920 after 35 years. Bob

Truck Driver Is Brought to Trial at Arkadelphia

ARKADELPHIA (AP) — Selection of a jury starts today for the first degree murder trial of truck driver David Geiger, charged with fatally shooting a woman and leaving her body beside a highway near here.

Prosecutor Travis Mathis said he would not ask the death penalty for Geiger, arrested at his Summerville, S. C., home about a week after discovery of the body of Mrs. Mildred Holden of Silsbee, Tex., last December.

Alternative sentence if Geiger should be convicted of first degree murder would be life imprisonment. He could be convicted of a lesser charge. Or, of course, he could be found innocent.

Mrs. Holden had been shot once in the head.

Police quoted Geiger as saying the woman shot herself with his pistol after he had picked her up while she was hitchhiking in Texas.

Geiger, police related, said he was afraid to notify authorities. He was quoted as saying he dumped the body out of the truck, tore a bloody floor mat from the vehicle and drove away.

Officers said Geiger was traced through his truck, the cab of which bore a hole allegedly made by a pistol bullet.

Geiger was released on 10,000 bond pending the trial, and returned to Arkadelphia only yesterday.

Since his release, he has been working for the same Summerville company whose truck he was driving when he was arrested.

Garland's Part at Festival Is a Maypole

Garland School's First and Second Grade girls will wind the Maypole in the May Music Festival, Tuesday evening, May 8. They will be following a precedent dating back as far as the Greeks and Romans.

The children dressed in white dresses danced and sang the gay tunes of spring.

Those who will participate in this part of the Music Festival are:

Susan Forster, Lynn Russell, Amelia Gaines, Martha Allison, Brenda Kay Bain, Junita Barr, Gail Laughlin, Frances Middlebrooks, Beverly Jackson, Shirley Duhney, Sandra Kay Windsor.

Other candidates who filed today in district races are: Prosecuting Attorney State Senator Chancellor

Kiwanians Hear About Crime From FBI

A. M. Bryant, special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Little Rock, was a great speaker before Hope Kiwanis club Tuesday.

A veteran crime investigator, Mr. Bryant has been an FBI agent the past 14 years and was recently transferred to the Little Rock office from Miami, Fla.

He told of the vast net-work and some of the duties of the 6,000 FBI agents scattered over the United States and foreign countries, and then related the three main functions of their work:

1. Crime investigations.

2. Internal security.

3. Cooperation with other law enforcement agencies.

There are 52 divisions of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in the United States of which Arkansas has one, located at Little Rock. The FBI maintains ten resident Agents in Arkansas of which John Martin, native of Hempstead county and a former Hope school teacher, is included.

The speaker declared that during the year 1955 there were more than two million major crimes committed in the United States, one every 13 seconds, including 35 murders daily, 51 persons were raped daily, 607 automobiles were stolen each day.

He cited other figures: Out of every four crimes committed, one person was arrested, out of every seven persons arrested and charged with crime, five were found guilty. Sixty-one law enforcement officers lost their lives while making investigations and arrests.

Mr. Bryant then spoke of juvenile delinquency, and cited these figures: The records show that 163,668 juveniles under the age of 18 were arrested last year, which is nine percent of all persons arrested.

The type of juvenile crime most prevalent was robbery, burglary, larceny, the speaker pointed out.

He then told the Kiwanians of crime detection methods used by the FBI and of the progress that had been made in recent years in apprehending criminals, pointing specifically to the FBI's laboratories and fingerprint files in the nation's capitol, which is called miraculous.

The guest speaker was introduced by Sheriff Jimmy Cook. Other guests included FBI Agent John Martin, Chief of Police Jack Brown, Lt. Harold Porterfield of the State Police, Deputy Sheriff Bill Cline, Deputy Prosecuting Attorney C. V. Nunn, Jr., Tom Ferguson of Kansas City, F. C. Daniels of Hope, and the Rev. W. L. Harris also of Hope.

No Opposition for Fulbright, 4 Congressmen

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U. S. Sen. J. W. Fulbright and four Arkansas Congressmen were re-nominated without opposition today. Two other Congressmen must fight for their jobs.

The ticket for the July 31 Democratic primary closed at noon with only Fulbright, of Fayetteville, and Reps. E. C. Gathings of West Memphis, Wilbur Mills of Kensett, J. W. Trimble of Berryville and Oren Harris of El Dorado as candidates in their respective races.

Rep. Brooks Hays of Little Rock is opposed by Bill Donham of Little Rock in the 5th district and Rep. W. F. Norrell of Monticello drew three competitors in the 6th district. They are Prosecutor Pat Mullis and Attorney John H. Jones, both of Pine Bluff, and William Lambert of Royal in Garland County, a farmer.

Gathings represents the 1st District, Mills the 2nd, Trimble the 3rd and Harris the 4th.

Folsom Takes Beating in Alabama Vote

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — An advocate of racial segregation won a place in the national Democratic party's highest councils yesterday by crushing Gov. James E. Folsom in the Alabama party primary.

State Rep. Charles W. McKay Jr. author of Alabama's nullification resolution that seeks to void the U.S. Supreme Court's integration decrees, rolled over Folsom and Roy D. McCord in the race for Democratic national committeeman.

McKay's 2,805 boxes gave McKay 138,268 votes to 44,780 for Folsom and 24,528 for McCord.

Throughout a campaign marked by bitterness over racial questions, McKay said Folsom showed weakness in defending Southern traditions of separation of the races. He contended that Folsom has aided the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in its drive to topple Southern racial barriers.

In the other major race, Sen. Lister Hill defeated retired Rear Adm. John Crommelin. An unofficial count of 1,827 boxes gave Hill 139,391 votes and Crommelin 72,484.

Rep. Frank Boykin won his party's nomination for return to Congress from the 1st District and Rep. George Grant had a substantial lead in his bid for the 2nd.

Other members of the congressional delegation were unopposed. Nomination in the Democratic primary is equivalent to election in Alabama.

Candidates leaning toward Adlai Stevenson for the presidential nomination were the largest single bloc among leaders in the race for Alabama's 52-member delegation to the Democratic National convention. The delegation, which will cast 26 votes, will go to Chicago unpledged.

Folsom's smashing defeat came two years after he won his second term as governor in an overwhelming first primary victory over six other candidates.

Snoddy, Pippin, Johnson Seek to Beat Faubus

By TOM DYCARD

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus faces four opponents in his bid for a second two year term.

The ticket for the July 31 Democratic primary closed at noon with Faubus, two former state senators — James Johnson of Crossett and Jim Snoddy of Alma — and two political unknowns, Ben Pippin of Little Rock and S. K. Prosser of Conway, as candidates.

Chris Finkbeiner, a Little Rock meat packing executive, made a dramatic last-minute exit from the race by announcing that he had decided not to seek the nomination "at this time." He said, however, that if he had decided to make the race, he was certain he would have been elected.

"But I feel that I can serve my family and the state better by not running at this time," he said in a short statement.

Pippin is a former state employee. Prosser now works for the

Clifford Byers Candidate for Circuit Clerk

The Star today was authorized to announce the candidacy of Clifford Byers for the office of Circuit Clerk. His statement:

Taking into consideration the encouragement and promises of support that I have had from many people throughout the County, I have after due thought decided to enter the race for Circuit Clerk and Ex-Officio Recorder of Hempstead County, Arkansas.

The duties of the office of Circuit Clerk are varied in many respects. The one elected to this office is also Clerk of the Chancery Court, and the orders, judgments and decrees of these Courts should be filed and recorded in the respective records of both Courts in a neat and orderly manner.

As an Abstractor and as Deputy Circuit Clerk as early as 1930, I feel that I am in a position to render the kind of service that the people of Hempstead County are so justly entitled to. I am a native of Hempstead County and I assure you when elected that the affairs of the office I seek will be handled in a courteous and business like manner, and it is with this promise that I sincerely ask your vote and support.

Facts About a Likely New Film Siren

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Is Marilyn Monroe sexy? As a girl, yes. As a corporation, no.

So says Barbara Nichols, latest addition to the siren ranks. Now offhand you might think that Barbara Nichols' criticizing Monroe is akin to a rookie's telling Ted Williams how to bat. You could be right. But the qualifications for being a starlet include an ability to speak briefly and intelligently about a corporation.

"I think Marilyn is making a mistake becoming a corporation," she said. "There's something unbecomingly girly going into business. I think men want it. It places the girl in a position of competing with them."

This probably is because Double-M to abandon Marilyn Monroe Productions, Inc. But Barbara was serious about her opinion.

"I suppose stars have to incorporate themselves," she remarked. "That seems to be the only way they can save any of the money they make. But I think it destroys their glamor to go into business."

She vowed that she would never become Barbara Nichols, Inc.

"I'm not interested in money," she claimed. "I'm only interested in finding a husband."

She explained that she was all of 22 and still hasn't wed. Nor does she have any prospects.

I feel certain that this situation will soon be remedied. Barbara's assets are too noteworthy to be overlooked. As a matter of fact, Hollywood is now taking advantage of them in movies.

She was a reddish brunette when she attended high school in Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y. where she got good grades, so she's really neither dumb nor blonde.

Her career led her to the chorus line at New York's Latin Quarter to the Broadway revival of "Pal Joey." A bit on Sid Caesar's show brought her the role of a stripper in "Miracle in the Rain." Now she's playing a stripper in RKO's "Beyond a Reasonable Doubt."

But she claims she isn't being lured into playing a gangster's moll in "The Best Things in Life Are Free," then portrays Doris Day's girl friend in "The Pajama Game."

What with Hollywood's preoccupation with curvaceous blondes, Barbara is liable to make the big time.

Around The World

LONDON (UP) — All of Britain's oldest transport planes, the famous four-engine York airliners, were grounded today pending an investigation into the latest of a series of crashes.

The air ministry said none of the planes, converted from the Lancaster heavy bombers of World War II fame, would be used for transporting service personnel and their families until the investigation was completed.

Yesterday's crash, in which a royal air force man and an infant were killed at Stansted airport, was the third in the last eight months.

A York crashed on takeoff on Malta Feb. 18, killing 10. Another York crashed and burst into flames at Stansted last September, killing one soldier.

In February, 1953, a York was hit over the Atlantic with 39 aboard.

The York is one of the major passenger aircraft used by British charter-airline companies. Charter companies handle a large percentage of troop transport for Britain.

MOSCOW (UP) — Louds speakers ushered in the May Day festivities in central Moscow by blaring forth an old American drinking song. "There's a Tavern in the Town."

The melody last was heard here in 1945 when a spirit of good will marked Soviet-American relations.

BUENOS AIRES (UP) — Argentina's railway freight rates rose 20 per cent yesterday and passenger rates jumped 10 per cent.

The transportation ministry, which operates the railway network and many bus lines, said the increases were necessary to meet an expected $10,000,000 deficit this year.

state. Pippin, 70, said he planned to wage a conservative campaign because "I think I'm the only poor boy in the race."

He never before has sought public office. A former holder of minor state jobs Pippin filed his party loyalty and anti-corrupt practices pledges last week but did not pay his $1,500 ballot fee until today. It was paid in cash he said was given to him by unidentified friends.

Pippin said he had a "entirely different view on segregation" from Johnson and Snoddy. He said he didn't want to say now what his ideas were.

Prosser, a surprise candidate, paid his qualifying fee about an hour before the deadline but made no statement.

Atty. Gen. Tom Gentry, frequently mentioned as a possible gubernatorial candidate, said yesterday that he had decided not to run for political office this year. He said he planned to devote full time to his private law practice.

Definite opposition to Faubus' second term aspirations was late in developing. Johnson said only Monday night that he would run and Snoddy waited until yesterday.

If Faubus' opposition beats him, it will be only the third time since the Civil War that an Arkansas governor lost a bid for a second term. Faubus himself brought about the second downfall of a one-term governor by defeating Francis Cherry two years ago. The other case was John E. Martineau's victory over Tom J. Terral three decades ago.

Snoddy was executive secretary to Cherry for a bout a month in 1953. He resigned — purportedly for business reasons — in the middle of the 1953 legislative session. Snoddy was reported considering running against Cherry two years ago, but he never got beyond the thinking stage.

Johnson agreed to run against Faubus after a "draft Johnson" movement at a segregation rally provided about $2,300. He used the small bills, which were tossed into the orchestra pit at Robinson Auditorium here, to pay his filing jumpers and the land rushing up to meet him. He will be carrying a 55-pound portable camera and portable transmitter.

The transmitter will be in a foam rubber box. At 250 feet the paratrooper is supposed to get the camera in the box and then drop both.

At Quantico, Va., and Fort Benning, two cameras will be buried, one in a pillbox, the other in a fox hole. Both will then record assaults on their positions as though the camera were an enemy soldier. In one Marines will attack with flame throwers and high explosives. In other, GIs will jump in with rifles shooting real bullets and tanks will roll over the camera area.

Also, a waterproof camera will be bolted to the forward deck of the "Albacore" to record a crash drive by that submarine off Long Island.

Cameras will record the workings of the carrier Essex off California and a few seconds later another camera, this one aboard the USS Mississippi, off Norfolk, will try to follow a guided missile aimed at an obsolete drone in the air.

The show, producer Norman Frank said, already has enough complications. It will cost NBC about $250,000 and will involve the work of at least 1,800 technical people, excluding the military and 82 cameras.

"All this requires split-second coordination and worrying about a fantastic number of details," said Frank. "And on top of that, the Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard are all jockeying for an equal position on the show. Nobody will agree to having 30 seconds less than the other guy."

Armed Forces Day to Be Televised

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (UP) — NBC plans to televise what amounts to a small Armed Forces Day.

The day is observed May 19, but the program is scheduled for Sunday, May 13.

On that day, in two oceans and at a dozen land points in between, the ubiquitous "Wide World" show will just about blow its top—or, at least, a few cameras—to photograph action as it occurs.

Barring bad weather and bad timing, a live camera will record a B-70 drone plane being exploded in the air by rockets from three jet fighters. This is scheduled for the air over the Gulf of Mexico with the camera shooting from another plane less than a mile from the B-70.

A paratrooper will bail out over Fort Benning, Ga., from 1,250 feet. During the first 1,000 feet, he is supposed to photograph other

Dewey Sought to Run for the Senate

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (UP)—White House aides were reported active today in efforts to persuade former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Ambassador John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky to run for the Senate.

There is no evidence President Eisenhower himself has taken a hand as some GOP sources say he did in nudging former Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay into Oregon's primary race.

But some party strategists said they have been approached by Eisenhower associates with suggestions that Dewey might be convinced he ought to undertake the New York senatorial race if certain conditions were met.

One of these was said to be assurances from members of the old Taft wing of the party that Dewey would have their support if he ran and that he would not be relegated to a back-seat Senate role if he won.

Dewey generally is credited with helping engineer Eisenhower's defeat of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the Republican presidential nomination in 1952.

Rep. Taylor (R-N.Y.) has predicted Eisenhower may ask Dewey to seek the GOP senatorial nomination. Dewey said he hadn't heard of it. So did White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty. Dewey has insisted he has no plans to get back into politics. McKay has said pressure for him to get into the Oregon Senate race came from GO P Chairman Leonard W. Hall and Eisenhower's No. 1 assistant Sherman Adams. Philip Hitchcock, who declined to withdraw when McKay suddenly entered the race, is credited with giving McKay a stiff battle for the Republican nomination to oppose Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse.

DALLAS (UP) — The four Hunter sisters continued to "do nicely" in their incubator at Methodist Hospital today but doctors said it would still be several days before they could predict their chances of survival.

The quads were born prematurely Monday night and yesterday morning to Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hunter. The mother is 25, and the father, an $80-a-week paint mixer at an aircraft company, is 42.

The line-up includes Marie Gay, 3 pounds; Marilyn Kay, 2 pounds 11 ounces; Alvie May, 3 pounds, 3 ounces; and Melanie Fay, 2 pounds 1 ounce.

OKAY BOND ISSUE STUTTGART, (UP) — Returns from the municipal election here yesterday showed success for a $272,000 bond issue. The unofficial vote was 630 for and 271 against the issue which would pay for a new water treatment plant.

The main plank of Johnson's platform is continued segregation. He plumped for state old age pensions and non-political control of the State Hospital yesterday when he filed.

He also attacked Faubus sharply, describing the administration as one of "duplicitous and hypocrisy."

In reply to a news reporter's question, Snoddy said he also favored segregation and thought it would be a major issue in this summer's campaign. He said he would outline a platform later.

Like Johnson, Snoddy paid his ballot fee and signed his pledges yesterday.

Faubus said he wasn't surprised by yesterday's developments.

The governor has said he didn't think segregation would be "too much of an issue" this summer.

Segregation Group Kicks in for Johnson

By TOM DYCARD

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Segregationist Jim Johnson swung into the governor's race today with money tossed into the Robinson Auditorium orchestra pit by supporters at an anti-integration rally.

After hesitating to respond to a "draft Johnson" movement because "I have never been so broke," heg b—.

"I'll run for governor of the state of Arkansas if you want me, but I'll have to run on contributions from people who never gave money to a campaign before."

When the last dollar bill floated into the orchestra pit and was placed on a table, the total was $2,289.18, said a spokesman for Johnson.

It will cost him $1,500 to get on the Democratic primary ballot.

The draft movement and Johnson's announcement that he would run came at the end of a segregationist rally here last night.

The rally ended just about 36 hours before the Wednesday noon deadline for filing for the Democratic primaries. Because of the time element, the rally started in the midst of rumors that one or more segregationist would be in a race for public office before the finish.

After a few "Johnson for governor" cries from the crowd of 2,300, Herbert Brewer of Hoxie put it to the audience from the platform.

"The people in this crowd should draft Jim Johnson," said Brewer, leader of the segregationist faction in the bitter school fight at Hoxie. Johnson took the microphone and said:

"I have never been so honored ... and I have never been so broke."

Brewer took the microphone again and asked the people to throw money into the orchestra pit to pay Johnson's filing fee.

While an organ played "Dixie," many of the people milled to the front of the auditorium and tossed currency or checks into the pit. The money was placed on a table in the middle of the pit. At the end, it made a pile about 18 inches wide at the base and about 12 inches high.

UN Announces Agreement, Battle Flares

JERUSALEM (Israeli Sector).—(UP)—The United Nations announced today a major agreement between Egypt and Israel to end their border tension. But Israel immediately disclosed a new clash with Jordan.

A U. N. spokesman said Egypt and Israel agreed to the establishment of U. N. patrols along the Gaza strip where a series of incidents recently brought Egypt and Israel dangerously close to war.

Israeli military spokesman Col. Nehemia Brosh charged that Jordanian infiltrators slipped across the border at midnight and clashed with Israeli settlers at Nevelor, eight miles south of the sea of Galilee.

Brosh said the infiltrators fled back across the Jordan river after a sharp exchange of fire.

He also said the casualty toll in Sunday's Gaza strip incidents amounted to two Israelis killed and two wounded.

A U. N. announcement said the idea for the observation posts came from Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U. N. truce supervision organization and that U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold submitted them to both Egypt and Israel.

The proposal to place observation posts on both sides of the demarcation lines does not require withdrawal of either forces a certain distance from the lines as earlier proposed. Israel had objected to this because it meant the evacuation of a number of border villages.

The observation posts would be supplemented with mobile U. N. patrols which could move into tense areas when necessary to iron out local crises before they could develop into more of the dangerous border incidents.

A United Nations spokesman said steps would be taken for recruiting the additional observers required under this agreement.

The agreement was worked out by United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold in a series of conferences with leaders of Israel and the Arab nations. It would supplement his recently concluded series of cease fire agreements.

A dispatch from Amman, capital of Jordan, disclosed that Jordan was falling in with the other Arab nations in agreeing to the cease fire agreements with Israel.

The dispatch said Premier Samir El-Rifay cabled Hammarskjold that Jordan's attitude was in harmony with the attitude of the other Arab states. Egypt and Syria already had agreed to the cease fire.

Hammarskjold was meeting Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion and Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett today on the last stage of his peace mission and it was believed he would be able to leave for home by Wednesday afternoon.

Ex-Husband Is Blackmailer Cure for Boredom? She's Paying Him Back!

Dear Dorothy Dix: I married Jimmy when I was 16. Although I had to marry him, because I was pregnant I loved him very much. We were married only two weeks when he started going out with other women. We had a serious quarrel over his affairs, he struck me and I lost the baby. We were divorced shortly after.

Now I am married to a wonderful man and have two beautiful children I never told Dave about Jimmy. However, Jimmy came back and asked for money, threatening to tell my husband if I didn't give him some.

Dave is a very strict Catholic. I know the truth will hurt him; it might even make him hate me. Should I give Jimmy the money, hoping he will go away and leave us alone?

Dear Despairing: When a blackmailer has a sure source of money, he never gives up; the longer you pay, the more you become entangled. Moreover, Jimmy is committing a crime by blackmailing you; paying him would only add to the guilt you already carry.

Telling the truth is your only solution. As the first step, have a talk with David's priest. I am sure you'll find him sympathetic and helpful; he can also help to soften the blow when you tell David. You must also have faith in your husband that he, too, will show understanding.

It will be wonderful to face the world again with a clear and easy conscience. Putting your faith in the good people of your life rather than in the false promises of a blackmailer will accomplish it. You have a difficult time ahead, but it will end in peace of mind.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am in love with a boy in service and we plan to marry, but he insists on waiting until he gets out, which will be 16 months. I live in the country and there's nothing to do here. I sure would like to get married now. How can I convince him?

Dear Lonely: And just what makes you think marriage will be a solution? If you regard it merely as a cure for boredom, better forget it.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My wife is a wonderful woman but I have neglected her shamefully. I started going out, coming home late or not at all, but now realize how wrong it was. Now she has started going out with someone else. What can I do to get her back?

Dear Tom: A dose of your own medicine is quite unpalatable, isn't it? Add a sampling of humble pie to the menu and see what amazing results will follow.

Don't be ashamed to admit your wrong, ask forgiveness and promise to make up for it—but be sure the promises are kept. Your wife will undoubtedly come back once (women are forgiving creatures), but that's all.

THE LONG BODY

by Helen McCloy

CHAPTER XXI

She forced herself to eat. To her surprise, she felt an increase in strength. And then, just as she was pushing the tray aside, there was an influx of footsteps and voices and there they were, all four of them—Malcolm and Jean, Byrd and Betsy.

"Good news, Mother!" Malcolm bent to kiss her. "We've persuaded the doctor you'll be happier at home and just as safe there, if you'll take it easy for a few days longer."

Safe. She would never feel safe again. She found new reserves of strength within herself, enough to force a cheerful, normal tone. "I feel much better, dear."

She was looking at all four faces with new eyes and now suddenly they were all the faces of strangers. What did you really know about your closest associates? She and Betsy had been children together, but what had that romping Betsy in gingham and pigtail to do with this highly finished Betsy in the deceptively simple silk print from Paris with the smooth coils of silver hair coiffed in New York?

And Byrd? She had known him only in his prosperous middle years, happily married to Betsy, proud of his daughter, Jean, and his comfortable home. What was he like in childhood, in youth or in adversity, without any prospect of his finally successful career?

And Jean and Malcolm, with the porcelain faces of the very young, they were the most enigmatic of all. Lines and wrinkles told something of the truth about Byrd and Betsy, but Malcolm and Jean had faces like fresh, blank pages where nothing had been written yet.

"You slept all day," Betsy was saying. "But you had a restless night. The nurses found you half-awake at 2 a. m., upset and incoherent. The doctor had to come and give you morphine. The nurses were frightened, but the doctor thought you'd be all right today and you must be, You look so much better."

Incoherent? Misgiving came and went like a twinge of rheumatism. She saw uneasiness in their eyes. "You don't have to hide anything from me," said Alice. "Sergeant Stevens was here a little while ago. I know that Cristina Lash was shot last night."

Byrd came and sat on the edge of the bed, contrary to hospital regulations. He took her hands in his. "Alice, you were right about Cristina. There was something odd going on. And now, I suppose we'll never know what it was all about. The Sergeant and I saw lights in her house late last night when the police found the body. We went over to see if anything was wrong. No one seemed to have any idea who shot her or why. We can only thank God you were in the hospital at the time."

"Why?" demanded Malcolm. "The police know your mother suspected Cristina of trying to kill you and herself. If your mother had not been in the hospital, they must have suspected her."

"They couldn't!" protested Malcolm. "But they would," retorted Byrd with a wry smile. "I didn't make any secret of my feelings about Cristina," put in Jean. "I suppose they'll start suspecting me now."

"Don't go around saying things like that, Jean!" said Byrd sharply. "The less we say the better. Let the police do their own job in their own way. It has nothing to do with us now."

Malcolm frowned and turned away as if he did not want them to see his face at that moment. "The police must find out who really killed Cristina," he said in a harsh voice. "You all know I

Backers Try to Save Spa Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army still is intent on closing Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., and Murphy General Hospital at Waltham, Mass.

But congressional backers of the two institutions continue just as determined to keep them open.

In testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee made public today, the opposing views are sharply focused.

Brig. Gen. Keith R. Barney, Army director of installations, said a review of hospital needs has established that the Army no longer needs either hospital for medical purposes.

Chairman Flood (D-Pa.), recalling that Congress overruled the previous Army attempts to close the facilities, indicated in the following exchange that the same thing might happen again:

"You would not be surprised, of course, if you discovered that the Army-Navy hospital and the Murphy Army Hospital would be continued, would you?" Flood asked Barney.

"No, sir," Barney replied.

"You are a man of sound judgment," Flood commented. In the course of the hearing, Army witnesses again presented argument that neither hospital is needed. The subcommittee was told that $800,000 annually could be saved if the Hot Springs hospital were closed and about $500,000 a year would be saved if Murphy were converted for use as an office building by Army Engineers and the Air Force.

Committee Starts 'Mome Rule' Move

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The Arkansas Citizens' Committee for Home Rule was set to begin whipping up state-wide support today for a "home rule" constitutional amendment that would remove Arkansas cities and towns out from under control of the general assembly.

Bigelow Robinson, Little Rock

businessman who heads the committee, was scheduled to meet with groups in Fayetteville, Fort Smith, and Russellville today to explain the proposed amendment and to set up organizations to assist in obtaining the minimum of 32,000 signatures that will be needed to put the proposal on the November ballot. The committee has until July 9 to file the petitions and signatures.

DOGS

DOGS AT WORK
One of the peculiarities of mankind as distinguished from other animals is that man will find a use for anything. Some of the uses even have found for dogs seem odd to the modern American dog fancier. Probably no Chow Chow now alive in this country has been trained and used to hunt game.

Four outstanding youth choirs will appear on the program with Jimmy McKissic. They are: the 40-voiced Lafayette County Training School of Stamps, Arkansas under the direction of Mrs. L. J. Johnson, the St. Paul C. M. E. Church youth choir of Washington, Arkansas, the St. Peter C. M. E. Church youth choir of Ozark, Arkansas, and the New Light C. M. E. Church youth choir of Nashville, Arkansas.

Many other outstanding talent will appear on the Saturday night program. The program will get underway immediately after the Inspiration Hour Broadcast is over.

Tickets are on sale at: Service Cleaners, Blue Room, Yerger Barber Shop, Hicks Funeral Home, Essie's Beauty Shop, Yerger High School Office, Ward 4 Grocery, Shover's Sandwich Shop.

Admission is a donation of 50¢ in advance or $1.00 at the door Saturday night.

But the oldest historical record pertaining to the breed shows that about 50 B.C. Chow Chows were used in China as hounds.

Chows were also raised as meat and fur animals and it is reported that in some parts of Mongolia they still are. Various breeds of Arctic dogs are still used by their primitive masters for their meat and hides as well as to draw sleds, hunt game, and herd reindeer.

American Indians used their dogs in equally diversified ways.

Even in this country dogs were used in more primitive ways to turn spit that roasted meat roasting at a fireplace, or to trot endlessly on treadmills to furnish power for light mechanical tasks.

Such practice is not wholly past in Europe. Neither is the use of dogs as draft animals.

In the days of Europe's famous (or infamous) medical charlatans and similar abracadabrists, some of these, for instance, Casanova, were accompanied by dogs of the general mastiff family that had been trained to help in the act of speaking (apparently spontaneous).

Memphis Heading for Another Flag

By The Associated Press
Memphis will have its third Southern Association pennant in four years sacked up long before Labor Day if the club don't find the victory key in refurbished Russwood Park, home of the slugging Chickasaws.

The Chicks, in second place after dropping three straight last weekend in Birmingham, clubbed Nashville 7-4 last night for their seventh consecutive home victory. The Tribe is unbeaten at Russwood, now one of the finest parks in baseball after an outlay by the new owners reported to have been in excess of $200,000.

Torrid Birmingham ran its winning string to eight games by beating Mobile 9-2 and Atlanta 5-0, secured a New Orleans winning streak at by blanking the Pelicans 4-0. Chattanooga and Little Rock, tied for the cellar, were rained out.

Thought For The Day

Every tomorrow has two handles. We can take hold of it with the handle of anxiety or the handle of faith. Pope.

Wearing Memorial Poppies To Honor Nation's War Dead

Memory of those who gave their lives in defense of America will be honored here and throughout the nation on Poppy Day, May 5th, by wearing of America's memorial flower, the bright red poppy. Millions of Americans will wear the flower on that day as a personal tribute to the Nation's war dead.

Plans for the local observance of Poppy Day are being completed under the direction of Mrs. Worlda Stuart, poppy chairman of Nelson Hill unit of the American Legion Auxiliary. A large corps of volunteer workers are being organized to offer poppies on the streets throughout the day. Contributions will be received for the Auxiliary's work for disabled veterans and needy children of veterans.

The poppies which will be worn here have been made by disabled veterans at Fort Rucker Hospital or workroom. The flowers are crepe paper replicas of the wild European poppy, which bloomed in such profusion "between the crosses, row on row," in the battle cemeteries in France and Belgium. This poppy was adopted by the American Legion and Auxiliary as the memorial flower for the World War I dead soon after the close of that war, and now has become the flower of memory for all of America's war dead of all wars.

Musical Extravaganza

Saturday night, May 5, all of Hope expects to hear and see Jimmy McKissic, one of America's youngest and most versatile concert organist and pianist appearing at the BeBee auditorium at 8:15 p. m. on the Musical Extravaganza program sponsored by the Inspirational Hour Broadcast. Funds from this effort will be used to help keep the Inspirational Hour on the air during the summer months.

Four outstanding youth choirs will appear on the program with Jimmy McKissic. They are: the 40-voiced Lafayette County Training School of Stamps, Arkansas under the direction of Mrs. L. J. Johnson, the St. Paul C. M. E. Church youth choir of Washington, Arkansas, the St. Peter C. M. E. Church youth choir of Ozark, Arkansas, and the New Light C. M. E. Texas A&M One of 3 Schools Rapped by NCAA

By ERNEST BARTON
NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association's council was expected to hand down some of its severest penalties to day as it dealt with schools that have violated rules during the past year.

The 18-man, policy-directing group placed three schools—Texas A&M, Mississippi College and the University of Kansas—on probation yesterday. Only Texas A&M received penalties besides the probation.

The Southwest Conference military school was barred from entering "athletes or teams in national collegiate championship competition and those invitational events which cooperate with the NCAA in the administration of its enforcement program." The ruling includes post-season football bowl games.

All probationers were effective immediately. All except Texas A&M last for one year. The Texas school was placed on probation until May 14, 1957, the same date its probationary period in the Southwest Conference ends.

The council's action followed a report from the Committee on Infractions, headed by A. D. Kirwan of the University of Kentucky.

Clarence P. Houston of Tufts University, president of the NCAA and chairman of the council, said when a school is on probation its athletic program is "subject to close inspection and scrutiny."

"Any malpractice during the probationary period will seriously jeopardize the institution's membership in the NCAA," he said.

The Texas A&M violations occurred in its football program, while the Kansas and Mississippi infractions were connected with basketball said Walter Byers, NCAA executive director.

In its resolution, the NCAA council said Texas A&M was found guilty during April 1955 of offering at least two prospective student athletes "financial aid in excess of that permitted by this association and the Southwest Athletic Conference."

The NCAA said it had evidence that a Kansas staff member provided round-trip transportation for a prospective student athlete to visit in "at least one instance."

The council said it also had evidence that a Kansas official offered the same prospective student athlete aid in violation of NCAA and Missouri Valley Conference rules. The NCAA said the boy, not identified by name, could not qualify scholastically for a regular scholarship.

Arthur (Dutch) Lonborg, University of Kansas athletic director, admitted last night the charge about transportation was true.

Lonborg said the student involved was Kent Bryan, Kansas City high school graduate now at Wyoming University.

Lonborg said Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen, retiring Kansas basketball coach, drove Bryan to Lawrence to take an entrance examination in 1954.

But, Lonborg said, no member of his staff knew about an offer of financial aid to Bryan.

The NCAA said the offer was made with the knowledge of a staff member or under circumstances of which a staff member should have had knowledge.

After Bryan publicizing announced plans for enrolling at Kansas, Lonborg said he realized the youth's scholastic record did not merit an athletic scholarship.

Lonborg said Bryan was told he would have to work his way through school until he qualified scholastically for a scholarship.

Landy Plans for Cracking His Record

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Miller John Landy of Australia figures if he runs slower at the start and faster at the finish he can lower his world record time of 3 minutes 58 seconds.

The second man in the world ever to crack the four-minute mile also believes some day, under perfect conditions, a runner may go the mile in 3 minutes 50 seconds.

When Landy set the record in 1954 at Turku, Finland, he ran the first half mile in 1:58.7 which he now considers to fast a start for a speedy finish.

The slender, 148-pound Aussie's plan is to run the first half mile in two minutes flat and then finish faster than before. He'll get a chance to try the method at the Coliseum on Saturday afternoon in a special mile.

He'll face such foes as Villanova's Ron Delany, Oregon's Jim Bailey and Bill Dellinger and the world half-mile record holder Lon Spurrier.

Landy says his showing Saturday in the nationally televised race will be largely dependent on how well he becomes acclimated between now and then.

Asked why he thought another, actually on the charlatan's cunning signal some recognizable words. Dogs who can do that have been used in vaudeville during recent years.

Dogs are still used to hunt truffles growing on the roots of certain trees in France and Italy, and a few of these "truffle hounds" have been brought to this country to hunt that delicacy here.

Patterson Moved Up as Contender

NEW YORK (AP)—Champion Rocky Marciano's retirement has pitched Brooklyn's Floyd Patterson directly into the wide open heavyweight scramble.

In his first monthly ratings since Marciano's abdication, editor Nat Fleischer of Ring magazine removed the 21-year-old Patterson from his perch atop the light-heavyweight contenders' list, and made him the fifth ranking heavyweight.

The copyrighted ratings, released today, listed heavyweight champion Archie Moore as the No. 1 heavyweight followed by Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, Bob Baker, Johnny Holman and Aluterson.

Germany's Gerhardt Hecht was promoted to top contender in the 175-pound class following the shift of Patterson. Trinidad's Yolande Pompey, who meets Moore in a title fight in London June 5, is second.

might run 3:53 or 3:54 whereas he felt his own optimum time would be 3:58, and replied:

"I don't have the basic speed that some of the others have."

Landy has the three best times for the mile in addition to his record of 3:58. He has twice this year run 3:58.6. Next among the best times in the world is the 3:58.8 of England's Roger Bannister, the first man to break the four-minute barrier.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By JOE STETSON
Dog Editor

More than a few times I've had people say to me: "How I wish I could have a dog." I've suspected that perhaps they really think dogs are too much trouble and they really don't want a dog as much as they say they do, and I find out that they are allergic to dogs and suffer serious reactions in their presence.

There have been times when, with a bit of discussion and analysis, I've been able to help some of these folks by discovering a breed to which they do not react or at least not so much.

In such cases the rest of the family can enjoy a dog even if it has to be kennelled out of doors. The fact that one allergic individual in a family means no dog for the entire family is, of course, one of the very unfortunate things about allergies.

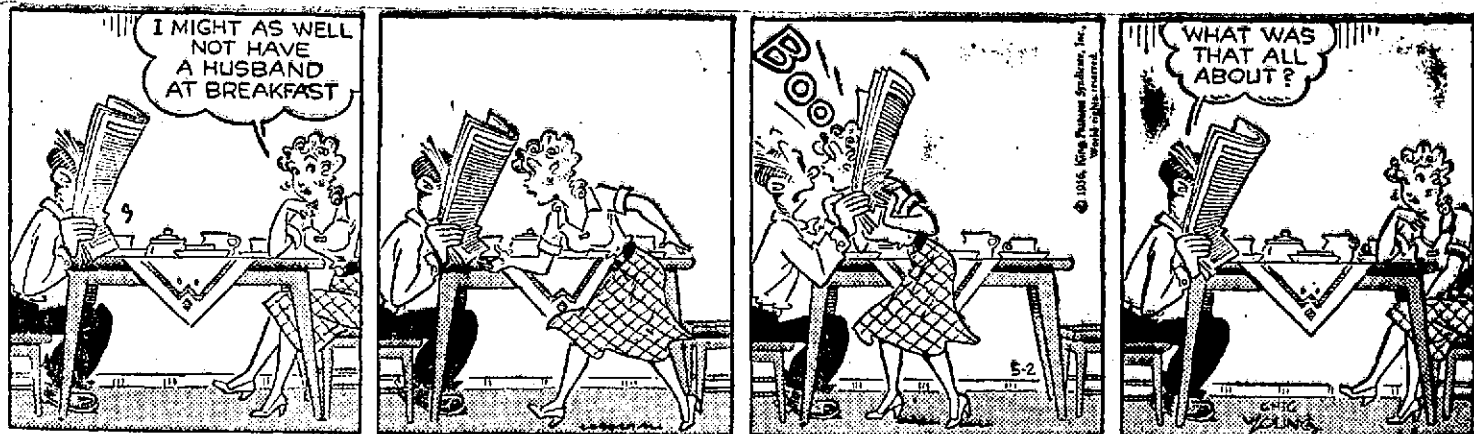

Rather recently a product has been developed to reduce the dust content of a room or an area or object producing dust. Application to a dog reduces the emanation of dander from the dog and thereby
